President's Report

The chill of fall is in the air as we have launched another great year at the guild. Maybe this weekend I will get a chance to get some little project done for Halloween! I have a nice collection of fabric and every year the day just sneaks up on me and I don't get the projects done. At the very least, I need a new fall table runner! Or maybe a pumpkin wall hanging. Anyone say "squirrel"!

I completely forgot to talk about the president's challenge for the year. It is to make something red and white for our Canada 150 themed quilt show. Those who won door prizes at the June meeting have a head start as they were mostly Canada themed fabrics. If your fabric is beige and red, that's ok too, a lot of the fabric companies used beige instead of white.

I would like to encourage everyone to participate in the guild. There are challenges to complete, block of the month, our sew days and charity projects just to mention a few things. We also are still looking for volunteers to sell tickets... Penny and I have offered to sell tickets if people want to switch with us on the executive! :) Keep in mind that if you do put your name down to participate in an activity, we plan for that many people. As an example, the venue for our first sew day had prepared food for us and not many who signed up were there.

One final comment on people's generosity and how we come together and make things happen. Thank you all who are making stockings, place mats and preemies. Our goal for stockings is a real stretch this year, if everyone pitches in, I think we can make it. Thanks to everyone who made blocks for the Canada 150 quilt. I will give an update at the October meeting as to what is left to do on that one and where people can help.

Now I am off to finish something for show and tell.

Happy quilting!

Challenges

President's Challenge 2016-2017

The president's challenge this year is to make something red and white for our Canada 150 themed quilt show in April 2017.

Along with all the quilts made for this challenge, we hope to also have an exhibit of quilts from around Eastern Ontario as all the guilds in the area are producing a quilt for a Canada 150 display. We have our quilt under construction and many of you made blocks during the summer.

The quilt does not have to be a maple leaf, it could be red work, or any other theme, the challenge is around the colour scheme. We will also stretch the boundaries of red/white to include beige as many of the Canada themed fabrics are beige/red.

Best of luck to everyone. Let's fill the room with red and white!

Baby Block Quilt

We still have some blocks left, so you can get in on this challenge

Crayon Challenge

Some members have asked about adding another colour to their chosen crayon, so we agree that you can add white or/and black if you feel that your project will have more of a zip to it.

Monthly Activities

Sew Days

Our next Sew Day is Wednesday, Nov. 2, 9:30-3 at Island View Suites, 30 Jack Crescent, Arnprior. Please sign up in advance. $10 fee with a surprise for you when arrive. If we do not have enough members sign up, we will cancel this activity. Bring your lunch, sewing machine and whatever projects you are working on. Get some excellent advice from other members, good company and time to just sew the day away with no interruptions! Finish your UFO's for Christmas presents.

Block of the Month

Each month, our members will presented with a new block to create. Draws will be made and someone will go home happy!

Notes from the Vice-President

Christmas stockings are due as soon as you complete them. We will be collecting them at the October and November meetings. The Arnprior CWL ladies have asked for them no later than our November meeting so that there is time for them to be filled with toiletries. These stockings accompany the Christmas food bank parcels. We currently have 60 + completed stockings and we have been asked for 250.

Preemies are still being collected and free preemie batts are available at meetings. Representatives from the Neo-natal unit at the Civic will be at our October meeting.

For more details, see the website section on our charity work.

Library

Hello library lovers,
This month our guest will be talking about paper piecing and curved piecing. So, for a different look on the library, every month books reflecting this subject will be available to borrow.
I will also put out one other subject, possibly Fall or winter projects.

As usual, there will be a box of sale items, books are $1 and magazines 25 cents. Any donation of recent magazines are gratefully received.

Everyone loves magazines and any money raised goes towards books for the library or our monthly "Guess the number of pages". I look forward to seeing everyone and enjoying another great quilting year.
